To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to provide this reference for Kris and his company, One Real Roofing & Construction, following their completion of three major bathroom remodels for the Salvation Army Homeless Shelter in Tyler, Texas. As the supervising officer for this project, I had the opportunity to work closely with Kris throughout the process, and both he and his company delivered at an exceptional level.

This project required significant coordination, planning, and flexibility, as all work had to be performed within an active shelter environment. Over the course of eight weeks, Kris and One Real Roofing & Construction demonstrated outstanding communication, reliability, and craftsmanship. Kris personally oversaw each phase of the remodels, ensuring that every detail—from demolition and plumbing reconfiguration to tile installation and fixture upgrades—was completed with care and precision.

One Real Roofing & Construction managed the logistics of materials, subcontractors, inspections, and day-to-day scheduling with impressive professionalism. Kris remained hands-on and highly involved, consistently updating our staff, addressing challenges promptly, and maintaining a clean and safe workspace despite the unique operational constraints of a busy shelter.

The finished bathrooms are a tremendous improvement for our residents. The quality of work reflects both Kris's personal commitment to doing things the right way and the strong capabilities of One Real Roofing & Construction as a company. Their combined effort has directly contributed to improving comfort, hygiene, and dignity for the individuals we serve.

I fully recommend Kris and One Real Roofing & Construction for any future remodeling or construction projects. Their integrity, problem-solving ability, and follow-through make them an outstanding choice for any organization or homeowner seeking reliable and high-quality work.

If you need any additional information, I would be glad to provide it.

Sincerely,

Captain Robert Coriston
